The Property Owner(s) or Successors in Interest hereby acknowledge that the Electrical Inspector cannot certify Oregon Electrical Specialty Code compliance of electrical elements that are concealed or not clearly visible at the time of inspection for damage due to rodents, vandalism, fire or heat related issues. Such elements include, but are not limited to: electrical wiring and components that are contained within walls, ceilings, attics, crawl spaces, basements or floor assemblies.

For all reconnect permits, the Property Owner(s) or Successors shall:

Provide safe and ready access to the structure that is being reconnected, and;

Assume all risk for hidden damage and fire risk.

In addition to the items above, for all reconnect permits with fire damaged structures, the Property Owner(s) or Successors shall:

Disconnect all existing branch circuits and feeders at the service, and;

The service-entrance conductors are to be measured for electrical insulation resistance with a megger if the existing service-entrance conductors are being re-used to ensure there is no insulation breakdown or a letter from the electrical contractor or property owner(s) must be provided to the county indicating that a visual inspection of cable has been performed and no damage was noted.

By executing this document, the signatory is agreeing that actions have been taken.

By my/our signature(s), I/we agree to defend, indemnify and hold harmless, Polk County, its officers, agents and employees for any claims, suits or damages that may occur concerning this action. By my/our signature(s), I/we agree to hold harmless, the County of Polk, its officers, agents and its employees for any losses, expenses or correction costs associated with electrical elements that are concealed or not clearly visible at the time of inspection.
