Interviews are being conducted to fill these positions later this week, but until the positions are filled, there may be a delayed response time from the District Attorney's office.

8. SHERIFF'S REPORT

Sheriff Wolfe reported that the first officer for the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde Police Department completed training and is now serving. Funding has been received from the Spirit Mountain Community Fund for the Sheriff's Department for the next fiscal year for the County to continue to patrol the Grand Ronde area. Sheriff Wolf reported that he attended a SB412 training hosted by the Tribe. Two tribes in the State of Oregon have completed the necessary paperwork to make them SB412 compliant, and the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde are currently working on completing the paperwork.

Sheriff Wolfe is starting work on budget reductions, at least two of his patrol positions will be cut, and those deputies are currently in the process of background checks for transferring to the Clackamas County Sheriff's Department. The Jail has implemented some cost saving measures, including switching to a cold breakfast. The Public Health department has also taken over all of the medical services at the jail, and that is working much better than previous medical staffing through ConMed. The Jail has also changed providers for pharmaceuticals, which will save approximately $10,000.

9. CHIEFS OF POLICE REPORTS
